Licensed Child Care Centers that are maintained for care, development, or supervision of six or more children under 13 years of age for less than 24 hours must analyze for Lead and Copper

Last fall, Newark gave out more than 40,000 water filters, even going door to door to reach families with lead service lines. The toxin is believed to have leached into drinking water through the old pipes between the water treatment plants and the people's homes. Officials now know, the water filters did not provide the anticipated protection and the concerns have caused concerns and confusion. Old piping and infrastructure is not a Newark problem, but a problem for all communities and structures with old infrastructure...have you tested your Child Care Center yet? Newark Article

Effective March 6, 2017, all Child Care Centers (CCC) in NJ were required to complete copper and lead water testing. A water testing report for lead and copper is required if the CCC is serviced by a public community water system and a copy of results and report must be submitted to DCF. All faucets used for drinking water or food preparation and 50% of other indoor faucets used by the center. Tests must be run by a NJDEP certified laboratory.

Brilliant Environmental Services, LLC (Brilliant) has completed necessary sampling and reporting on over 200 CCC since the inception of this new rule and is prepared to sample your site today.
